BAIL DENIED FULLER; IN TOMBS FOR TRIAL

Broker Who Forfeited $25,000 Bond Presents Himself to Court.

HAD GONE TO CANADA

Judge Johnstone Has New Jury Drawn to Hear
Case at Once.

QUASHES ALL PROTESTS

Says Justice Demands Prisoner
Who Evaded Jurisdiction
Be Put in Jail.

Edward M. Fuller, of the bankrupt firm of E. M. Fuller & Co., whose bond of $25,000 was forfeited in General Sessions last Wednesday when he failed to appear for trial on an indictment alleging bucketing a customer's order, appeared yesterday before Judge Johnstone, who ordered the case to trial at once over the protest of William J. Fallon, Fuller's lawyer. The judge refused further bail and committed Fuller to the Tombs.

The trial is upon complaint of P. E. Link of Westmoreland, Tenn., upon which a jury disagreed, eight to four, for conviction three weeks ago.

When Fuller appeared he explained that he had been to Canada and received a telegram from Fallon late Saturday calling him back to New York for the trial. He said he arrived in New York Wednesday afternoon, too late to begin the trial. Detectives were searching for Fuller to arrest him when he walked into the court room.

Nelson Olcott, Assistant District Attorney, asked Judge Johnstone to commit Fuller to the Tombs as a safeguard against his again leaving the court's jurisdiction, and in lieu of commitment asked $100,000 bail. Fallon protested that such a course was unfair to his client, that he had a right to bail and that confinement in jail would interfere seriously with night consultations between lawyer and client.

"I've given the matter great consideration," said Judge Johnstone, "and decided that it is in the best interest of justice to commit the defendant. He left the jurisdiction of this court and he went where he could not be extradited." Fallon objected to proceeding with the trial on the ground that he had not had time to obtain certain witnesses and upon the additional ground that newspaper publicity might have prejudiced prospective jurors. Fuller told newspaper men that he did not feel he could

CENTURY OLD BIT OF PAPER STARTS SUIT FOR $500,000

Decision on Alleged Stock Certificate of Old Mechanics Bank Might Lead to Actions for Millions and Open New Legal Industry.

A bit of time worn paper, about the size of a Federal Reserve bank note, dated August 19, 1823, and apparently a certification of the ownership of sixty-seven shares of stock of the old Mechanics Bank, is the object of a suit that began yesterday before Justice Gleeson in Supreme Court.

On the judicial interpretation of this piece of paper depends a possible judgment of approximately $500,000 for heirs of Thomas Williams, three and four generations removed. If their claim is held valid the result may lead to suits in which a dozen financial institutions might lose millions.

Clarence J. Shearn, representing the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, defendant in the action, also predicted in his opening address yesterday that if such litigation can be stirred up, "a brand new industry on the legal side will open up in the community."

Alfred Watkins Seymour of Seattle, great-grandson of Thomas Williams, is plaintiff, represented by Herbert C.

Smyth of McComb, Wellman, Smyth & Ryan, and Elijah N. Zollner of 233 Broadway. Two great-granddaughters of Williams are the only other surviving heirs. The Mechanics and Metals National Bank is defendant, having absorbed the stock of the Mechanics Bank by consolidation.

The stock certificate, so-called, was found about eight years ago in a Long Island home. It was brought before Justice Gleeson yesterday in a small embroiled purse, done in red, yellow and green in zigzag design. Mr. Smyth said it had been found among the personal effects of Archibald Cornell, who until his death in 1852 was executor of the Williams estate.

The paper bears a signature in the name of John Fleming, cashier of the bank, who was one time City Chamberlain, and later president of the Mechanics Bank. It appears to certify that on August 19, 1823, sixty-seven shares of the bank stock were in the name of Mr. Cornell as executor of the Williams estate.

committee on library of the New York Stock Exchange, addressed the first winter luncheon of the American Association of Advertising Agencies yesterday in the Hotel Pennsylvania.

He said the members of the exchange could have no interest in a transaction above the commissions they received. He added that like the Association of Advertising Agencies, the exchange is an association which does not operate for profit and it does no business. It neither buys nor sells stock, but operates as a market place where people assemble to buy and sell securities.

CURB MARKET EXPELS EDWARD A. McQUADE

Firm Went Bankrupt and Was Suspended.

The Board of Governors of the New York Curb Market Association yesterday expelled from membership Edward A. McQuade of McQuade Bros., stock brokers of 20 Broad street, for violation of trading rules.

The firm consisted of Edward and John McQuade, brothers of James A. McQuade, Democratic leader of the Fifteenth district, Brooklyn, who is said to have had no interest in the firm. The firm was suspended last October when it went into bankruptcy.

DR. FOSDICK STYLES ATTACK CARICATURE

Letter He Wrote to Accusing
Pastor Calls McCartney Idea
Preposterous.

ANSWER EQUALLY SHARP

Philadelphian Says Sermon on Virgin Birth Was Affront to Church.

The Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick wrote a letter to the Rev. C. E. McCartney of Philadelphia just before the latter induced the Philadelphia Presbytery to denounce Dr. Fosdick's religious views, in which he charged that a "preposterous caricature" had been made of him, and that persons who had heard him preach from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church in this city would be amazed to learn that any of his remarks could have laid him open to charges that were made against him.

Dr. Fosdick wrote this letter in response to a request from Mr. McCartney for confirmation of statements by him in a sermon entitled "Shall the Fundamentalists Win?" Mr. McCartney quoted from this sermon in one of his own entitled "Shall Unbelief Win?" "I know that you are a Christian gentleman and that you wanted to make your reply fair," said Dr. Fosdick's letter, dated October 13. "But in all honesty I must say that, so far from being fair, you have drawn a picture of me which any one who knows me, what I really think and what I really teach, would surely regard as a caricature."

Purpose Not Considered.
"What you have done is largely to neglect the whole purpose and object of my sermon and then, lighting upon my brief and sketchy outline of certain liberal positions, you have with scanty material imagined a theological position for me to hold which is a preposterous caricature of what I really think."

"You will see, then, my dear Mr. McCartney, that my trouble with your reply to me lies not so much in its detailed use or misuse of my words, but in the fact that, apparently missing the real objective of my sermon, you have reconstructed out of it an utterly fallacious picture of my thinking."

"The fold who habitually hear me preach in New York listen with amazement to the sort of attack which you and your fellows are making upon me, and . . . see clearly enough that you have drawn a caricature of me and then gotten angry at it."

Mr. McCartney Replies.

Two days later Mr. McCartney replied to Dr. Fosdick, saying that the latter had left him perplexed as to the general purpose of his sermon. "I find myself asking," says Dr. McCartney's letter, "How can the man who speaks in this reverent and devout way of the deity of Jesus Christ and confesses that He alone is the Saviour preach such a sermon as that over which the present controversy has arisen?"

The virgin birth, as I conceive of it, is not a question of theories of interpretation, but of fact. Was Jesus or was He not born of the Virgin Mary? To this the Presbyterian Church in its Confession makes definite and plain response. He was born of the Virgin Mary.

"Regardless of what view you yourself hold, you cannot but agree with me that your statement of the virgin birth, even though it be couched in the form of describing the views of a party in the evangelical church, is of a nature to encourage men to think that belief or disbelief as to this New Testament teaching is of no consequence."

"From the Presbyterian point of view your delivering such a message in a Presbyterian church is an open affront."

Upholding Confidence in Securities

We dislike very much to see investors losing money. It destroys their faith in all securities.

When an investor is once defrauded and finds that principal and interest are gone, he concludes that there is no use in saving at all.

The man who buys our mortgages will never lose his money or his faith. There are no better investments. Today we lend freely at 5½% to the borrower and the mortgages net the investor 5% guaranteed. We reduced the rate to get good mortgages. Borrowers in Manhattan and The Bronx no longer have to pay 6% on good loans.
